
Sectional Tournament at Clubs (STaC)

A Sectional Tournament at Clubs is a special tournament where players can earn silver points playing at their local clubs. A STaC offers sectional rating and is played in a number of clubs in a specific area over a period of several days.

The results of all games are sent to the director-in-charge of the event. Section results are determined by comparing the results of play at individual clubs. Overall pair game awards are determined by comparing the results of all games conducted at a particular session just as if all of the games were played at one site. STaC results are uploaded directly to the ACBL results page. As a result, results are available quickly and updates happen automatically.

STaCs are a great way for players who need silver points for rank advancements to earn those points in familiar settings.
